BLIND BOONE CONCERT

A Select and Critical Audience Present.

BOONE IS TRULY A MARVEL

And is Perhaps the Greatest Musical Prodigy in the World—Reproduces Any Selection After Once Hearing It—Miss Stella Boone Possesses a Sweet Voice.

The Young Men's Christian association are to be congratulated for securing the Blind Boone concert, which was the finest of its class ever heard in the city. A fair sized audience was present, comprising the best people of the city, and not one went home disappointed. Blind Boone is simply a wonder, and his rendition of the most difficult music published is given in a manner that is remarkable. Although blind, he never misses a note, and possesses a touch that is true and even. Blind Boone began his program by a March Suite, Op. 91, by Raff, and won the admiration of his appreciative audience from the start. His own interpretation of Swanee River, with variations, is perhaps the finest composition of the kind ever written, and is full of difficult fingering. He also gave several plantation melodies which were decidedly amusing. The Marchfield Tornado, a descriptive number arranged by him from an account of the hurricane which wrecked the town of Marchfield some years ago, during church services, is a masterpiece, the roar of the wind and peals of thunder being heard in connection with a hymn from the church organ. His imitation of a martial band, a music box and a country violinist was finely executed. Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the entertainment was the reproduction of a beautiful number by Professor Watters, of local musical fame, and which Blind Boone had never heard before. Mr. Watters rendered the piece in exquisite style and the reproduction was almost perfect.

Miss Stella Boone gave several vocal selections which showed a rich, sweet and flexible voice, and each number was heartily enjoyed. The audience, which was a critical one, showed their appreciation by loudly applauding every number on the program, and those who were absent missed a treat that is rarely to be had in the city.

STEPPED ON THE WIRE.

A Small Boy Received a Shock Yesterday.

The workmen who are engaged in putting in the new telephones left the end of one of the wires hanging to a pole between Fourth and Fifth streets yesterday while they went to dinner. The wire in some manner became loose and dropped across the pavement. Along came a small boy, and, with a youngster's curiosity, caught hold of the wire and dropped to the pavement in a heap, starting a wrestling match with the wire. After rolling around for a while he was pulled out by a passerby and found to be uninjured, but badly frightened. When asked what he took hold of the wire for he exclaimed: "I didn't take hold of it; it just reached up and grabbed me." How the wire became charged with electricity is a mystery, but after someone gets hurt the practice of not putting the wires out of the reach of the small boy will cease.

HANDCUFFED.

Marshall Johnson Had to Secure the Services of a Smith.

There was fun galore at city hall yesterday morning. Marshall Johnson has secured a pair of handcuffs, and just to see how they would work, tried one on. He forgot that he had no key for the steel bracelets, and clasped them up to a tight notch. After an hour's attempt to remove the handcuffs, in which he used all visible means, he was compelled to secure the services of a son of Vulcan. The blacksmith said that the only way he knew in which to remove the bracelet was to heat it red hot and apply a chisel. Alf didn't see how this could be done without burning his arm, and after considerable joking, the smith picked up a file and soon had the new officer free from his incarceration. The marshal's predicament caused much merriment among his brother officers.

A FALSE ALARM

Was Turned in to the Station Last Night.

About 8 o'clock last night an alarm sounded from box 32, and the fire department responded in quick time. Investigation revealed that a lamp was turned rather high in a Sixth street grocery, and a boy named Floyd Miller had secured the box key and turned in the alarm, presumably to see just how fast the department could travel. The street was thronged with people, who had their run for naught.

CAME TO BLOWS.

A Meat Dealer and a Clerical Man Came to Blows.

There was fun yesterday afternoon at the end of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh platform, near Union street. A prominent meat dealer and a wielder of the pen for a large corporation showed how much they thought of each other by indulging in a little informal affair that was highly interesting to those who witnessed the scene.

The wielder of the pen thought the meat dealer was too inquisitive, and that he was prying into affairs that did not concern him, and the irate ink slinger told the meat vender to run home and mind his own business. The latter said he guessed he would take his playthings to his cosy domicile when he got good and ready.

One word brought on another, and suddenly without a moment's warning, the fist of the corporation man flew on a tangent and introduced its delicate touch upon the benign countenance of the dispenser of beef, who in turn, not to be outdone in the mutual exchange of courtesies, called into active service his own weapons of self defense. For the space of 10 minutes they pommelled each other to their heart's content, and finally were interrupted by the intervention of friends, who put a stop to further hostilities. The principals will recover.

The man of books claims that the meat man was the aggressor, and that he was called a vile name, which brought on the blows.

PLEAD GUILTY

To a Charge of Assault and Battery on Wah Lee.

Frank Martin, who assaulted Wah Lee, a Chinaman, who keeps a laundry on Second street, a few days ago, had a trial this morning, and after all the evidence was heard, the accused concluded to change his previous plea of not guilty to one of guilty. Wah Lee and Yee Song testified through Yee Ong, who acted as interpreter, that Martin had assaulted Lee by striking him and partly tearing the clothes from his limbs. Martin said that, "just as true as I'm sitting here, mayor, I never saw these parties before."

Constable Bertele testified to seeing Martin enter both the saloon and the laundry. Martin admitted being in the saloon, but said that he had no remembrance of being in the laundry. Mayor Gilbert then addressed the prisoner, and said that in view of the evidence given, he would have to bind him over to court without his plea was changed. Martin then pled guilty and was fined $12.50. He is without funds and may be sent to the county jail if he does not pay up.

TRADES COUNCIL

Met in Regular Session Last Night, but Little Business Was Transacted.

Trades council met last night, with a good attendance present. The report of the library committee was received and flattering progress marks their efforts. The committee have a large list of subscribers, but still more are needed. They will also receive donations of books, and a number of people have signified their willingness to contribute. The Unionist question was brought up, but the council could not see how they could continue its publication with profit, and the matter was dropped for the time being. After hearing the reports of the various committees, and transacting routine business, the council adjourned.

TRICKS IN ALL TRADES.

The Means That Some People Will Take to Sell Bicycles.

There are tricks in every trade, and it now develops that a dealer in bicycles not far from here has "caught on" to the scheme that is being practiced in a number of cities, and is buying standard grade wheels, and after filing off the number selling them at a cut price. The legitimate agents of the wheels for this section are trying to find out how or where he gets his wheels, but so far they have been unable to ascertain who furnishes them. It is strange to what means some people will go to sell bicycles.

The Freight Depot.

Earthware shipments are on the decrease, but glassware remains firm and steady. The force of men at the depot are not so busy as they were a month ago.

BLIND AND HOMELESS

Came Unto His Own and They Received Him Not.

AN OBJECT OF COMPASSION

An Old Man, Sightless and Helpless, Comes Here to Seek Relatives—They Refuse to Receive Him—His General Appearance Excites Pity.

Owing to a lack of space yesterday the following was held over for publication until today: Yesterday an aged and decrepit man was put off the noon train at this place. The old man indeed was a pitiable sight. He was blind, and almost utterly helpless with the infirmities of old age. His appearance was one of abject distress. His eyes were in a diseased state, and to make him an object of more repulsion, matter and pus was running from them. It was evident that the hand of care had not been extended over him, and that he was penniless and without friends.

He wore a coat that had turned a dirty yellow color with age, and on his head was a sombrero. The old man presented an uncouth appearance, his hair being unkempt, his beard long and flowing, his flesh shrunken and emaciated, and his finger nails had grown to almost an inch in length. He fairly reeked in filth and certainly was a repugnant sight to behold. A reporter approached the old man while he was at the depot and succeeded in getting the following story from him, which came with a labored effort.

"My name is Andrew Jones. I am seeking my son-in-law, who lives here; was formerly a resident of this city, but had trouble with my daughter, and she drove me from the home that I had bought and deeded over to her on the strength of being kept by them for the remainder of my life. I made my money by sharpening razors. After being turned out by my daughter I drifted over the country, and led a wandering life. I was in Clyde for some time, and left there to go to South Carolina, where I worked in the cotton fields at Whitesides Station until recently. Two years ago I was attacked and beaten by two negroes and robbed at that place. My money was all taken from me and one of them struck me over the eyes with a club, and that is what destroyed my sight. I was born in Philadelphia and am 85 years of age. My wife left me and influenced the children to do the same." The old man said that he had rich relatives living in the city of his birth, but they refused to recognize him now.

The patrol was called and the old man taken to the home of his relatives, who when they saw the uncouth looking man, refused to take him in. He was taken down to the jail, and after partaking ravenously of a dinner procured for him, which showed that he was almost famished for food, he was turned over to the township trustees' care, who immediately sent him out to the infirmary. The old man wanted to be sent back to Clyde, where he claimed he had just come from and had friends. Many residents of this place say that they knew the old man when he resided here a number of years ago. Although infirm now, his shrunken form indicates that in his youth he was a man of strength and excellent build.

THE EASTERN STAR

Hold a Very Interesting Entertainment Last Night.

The Eastern Star lodge gave a very interesting entertainment and banquet at their rooms last night. Slips of paper were passed around to the gentlemen on which this question, "What composes an ideal woman?" was asked, and they were to answer it to the best of their ability. George W. Croxall won the first prize, a handsome set of Thackeray's poems, and Jake Shenkel won the booby prize. Each of the gentlemen were presented with carnations at the supper table, and the dining room was handsomely decorated in the order's colors. After the supper was over the gentlemen were given whistles. The affair was conducted on the leap year plan, and the ladies exercised their prerogative in every instance, and showed the men how to conduct an entertainment. The evening wound up by dancing, the music being furnished by Wolfe.

Is Kept Busy.

Truant Officer Beardmore has his hands full these days hunting the youngsters who are affected with a desire to go fishing or engage in some other sport known to the small boy, instead of attending school. This is nothing unusual, however, as the truant officer always has a busy season when spring opens, as the warm weather seems to have a damaging effect on the average small boy.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

More Kind Words For America's Next President.

Up to date, the ordinary American deaf adder can keep the totals of the anti-McKinley vote.—Cleveland World

Sixteen presidents of the United States have been clean shaven. McKinley will make the seventeenth.—McKeesport Herald.

"McKinley, protection and honest money" was the motto of the workingmen's meeting in the most Republican city of the most Republican commonwealth on Saturday evening.—Doylestown, Pa., Intelligencer.

It is announced authoritatively that ex-Governor Foraker will present Major McKinley's name to the St. Louis convention. Thus another Democratic lie has been punctured.—Youngstown Telegram.

Kentucky's favorite son appears to be across the Ohio river in the Buckeye State.—He's everybody's favorite son.—Findlay Republican.

Have you heard from New Jersey? Of course it is more Republican victories. Now listen for Nebraska. Indiana is doing well, too. So is Missouri and Massachusetts. There's nothing the matter with McKinley!—Pittsburg News.

In spite of dental evidence accumulated that Senator Quay is about to do his political chest protector by joining the McKinley forces. The gentleman from Beaver has a superb cranial development.—Ohio State Journal.

Statistics show that the balance of trade has been against us with the Latin-American countries in 1825 in the ratio of $246,826,503 to $143,000,000. That was not the case under the McKinley bill and its provisions for reciprocity. It will not be the case when the party is again restored to power.—Canton Repository.

Senator Quay says he will stay in it to the end of the fight. So far as Mr. Quay is concerned the agony will soon be over. One ballot and he will be out of it.—Toledo Blade.

Tennessee seems to be as safe and solid from the McKinley point of view, as Ohio. The state is going all one way. Tennessee, it will be remembered, is about the best missionary field in the south for Republicans.—Cleveland Leader.

FOUND IN A BARN.

Joe Bratt Walked Ten Miles With His Ankles Closely Shackled.

Special to the News Review.

Lisbon, April 16.—Sheriff Gill was notified yesterday evening that Joe Bratt, who escaped from the infirmary some days ago, had been found in a barn on the farm of Frank Crawford, about five miles from this place. The sheriff took a carriage and repaired to the above farm and brought Bratt to Lisbon. How he managed to walk the distance is a mystery, as his ankles were closely shackled. Bratt was too weak to walk when he arrived here and had to be carried into the jail. His ankles were terribly swollen, and turned black. There being no key near that would fit the shackles, they were removed with a file.

TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Ladies Will Entertain the Employees of Burford's and the Dresden.

The Ladies' auxiliary will begin their series of entertainments for the benefit of the workmen in their rooms in the Young Men's Christian association building tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The first reception will be given to the employees of Burford's and the Dresden potteries, and a full attendance is requested. The ladies have been hard at work arranging this new departure and feel confident that their efforts will be successful. An instructive program will be carried out, which cannot but win the appreciation of the workmen.

Divorce Local Affairs.

The Republican who yells for McKinley or Reed and fails to support his local party ticket is like the woman who spends her time at foreign missionary meetings and lets her own children go to ruin.—Kansas City Journal.

Not so. The sentiment is steadily growing that the management of local affairs should be divorced from party politics and that support should be given to the best men. Your partisanship is too strong.—Toledo Blade.

PULLED HIS WHISKERS

And Otherwise Made Life Very Miserable.

A FARMER ASKS $625 DAMAGES

For Injuries Received in a Fight, in Which He Was Struck With a Mattock—An Action to Recover Judgment—A Will Filed and Hearing Set.

Lisbon, April 16.—Hanover township has furnished a damage suit for the court's decision, which was placed on file last evening by Isaac Heestand. Joseph S. Fallon is the defendant, and the principal cause of the action grows out of some trouble or disagreement between Heestand and Fallon some time last week. It is alleged that Fallon struck the plaintiff with a mattock, and concluded the assault by pulling his hair and whiskers. After the encounter between plaintiff and defendant it is claimed that Fallon cruelly beat and punched two horses belonging to Heestand, and finished his work by hitching them to a mowing machine purposely to frighten the animals. For his personal injuries Heestand asks that the court award him, $500, and for those inflicted on his horses $50. During last winter the plaintiff states that he owned a third interest in several tons of hay and several hundred bushels of oats and corn, which was worth $60, and which two weeks ago Fallon sold, converting the proceeds entirely to his own use. Two years ago Fallon also sold six pigs which belonged to the plaintiff, and which were worth about $15. The damages asked aggregate about $625.

J. H. Miller has filed a suit against Daniel and Henry Miller to recover a judgment for $600 due on two promissory notes of $300 each, which were given at Egerton three years ago. In probate court this morning the will in the estate of the late W. B. Orr, of Middleton township, was filed, and the hearing is set for April 25.

A marriage license was issued to Henry Hayman and Mary E. Heestand.

THE JUNIOR MECHANICS.

Will Celebrate Their Eighth Anniversary Tonight.

The Junior Mechanics will celebrate tonight, the event being their eighth anniversary, and a neat program has been arranged. Miss Tappan, an elocutionist of note, will be present, while Professor McDonald, of Wells-ville, will give an address. The celebration will open with a grand musical and literary program in which the talented members of the order will participate, to be followed by a sumptuous banquet which has been arranged. After partaking of the feast, which will be of an elaborate nature, the remaining hours will be spent in dancing. The anniversary is private, none but Mechanics and their ladies being admitted.

SKIFF CAPSIZED.

And Samuel Groves Received a Ducking.

Last night as Samuel Groves was casting a line from his skiff to the sand barge stationed close to the wharf boat, it capsized, and the occupant was thoroughly drenched by being dumped into the river. His fellow workmen fished him out without much difficulty, and beyond the ducking received he was uninjured.

Somebody's Mace.

A mace was handed into this office by a young man this morning who said he had found it on Washington street between Fourth and Fifth streets. The mace is a dangerous looking one, and had evidently dropped out of the pocket of some individual as he passed along the street. It is hardly probable that the mace will ever be reclaimed, as the man who would carry such a weapon would not want to be known.

Kind Words.

The Beaver Argus, in speaking of the absence of Mrs. Charles Dix at the recent concert of the pupils of the Beaver Musical Institute, says: "This was a great disappointment, as Mrs. Dix is one of the most brilliant pianists ever graduated from the institute, and her splendid performances are yet recalled as among the best of the traditions of the Taylor regime."

River Lower.

The river continues to recede slowly, but it is not feared that the stage of water will become so low for some time that navigation will have to be suspended. The Ben Hur passed down this morning and the Bedford and Lorena went up.

THE EASTERN STAR

Held a Very Interesting Entertainment Last Night.

The Eastern Star lodge gave a very interesting entertainment and banquet at their rooms last night. Slips of paper were passed around to the gentlemen on which this question, "What composes an ideal woman?" was asked, and they were to answer it to the best of their ability. George W. Croxall won the first prize, a handsome set of Thackeray's poems, and Jake Shenkel won the booby prize. Each of the gentlemen were presented with carnations at the supper table, and the dining room was handsomely decorated in the order's colors. After the supper was over the gentlemen were given whistles. The affair was conducted on the leap year plan, and the ladies exercised their prerogative in every instance, and showed the men how to conduct an entertainment. The evening wound up by dancing, the music being furnished by Wolfe.

Is Kept Busy.

Truant Officer Beardmore has his hands full these days hunting the youngsters who are affected with a desire to go fishing or engage in some other sport known to the small boy, instead of attending school. This is nothing unusual, however, as the truant officer always has a busy season when spring opens, as the warm weather seems to have a damaging effect on the average small boy.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

More Kind Words For America's Next President.

Up to date, the ordinary American deaf adder can keep the totals of the anti-McKinley vote.—Cleveland World Sixteen presidents of the United States have been clean shaven. McKinley will make the seventeenth.—McKeesport Herald.

"McKinley, protection and honest money" was the motto of the workingmen's meeting in the most Republican city of the most Republican commonwealth on Saturday evening.—Doylestown, Pa., Intelligencer.

It is announced authoritatively that ex-Governor Foraker will present Major McKinley's name to the St. Louis convention. Thus another Democratic lie has been punctured.—Youngstown Telegram.

Kentucky's favorite son appears to be across the Ohio river in the Buckeye State.—He's everybody's favorite son.—Findlay Republican.

Have you heard from New Jersey? Of course it is more Republican victories. Now listen for Nebraska. Indiana is doing well, too. So is Missouri and Massachusetts. There's nothing the matter with McKinley!—Pittsburg News.

In spite of denials evidence accumulates that Senator Quay is about to don his political chest protector by joining the McKinley forces. The gentleman from Beaver has a superb cranial development.—Ohio State Journal.

Statistics show that the balance of trade has been against us with the Latin-American countries in 1825 in the ratio of $246,826,803 to $143,000,000. That was not the case under the McKinley bill and its provisions for reciprocity. It will not be the case when the party is again restored to power.—Canton Repository.

Senator Quay says he will stay in it to the end of the fight. So far as Mr. Quay is concerned the agony will soon be over. One ballot and he will be out of it.—Toledo Blade.

Tennessee seems to be as safe and solid, from the McKinley point of view, as Ohio. The state is going all one way. Tennessee, it will be remembered, is about the best missionary field in the south for Republicans.—Cleveland Leader.

FOUND IN A BARN.

Joe Bratt Walked Ten Miles With His Ankles Closely Shackled. Special to the News Review.

LISBON, April 16.—Sheriff Gill was notified yesterday evening that Joe Bratt, who escaped from the infirmary some days ago, had been found in a barn on the farm of Frank Crawford, about five miles from this place. The sheriff took a carriage and repaired to the above farm and brought Bratt to Lisbon. How he managed to walk the distance is a mystery, as his ankles were closely shackled. Bratt was too weak to walk when he arrived here and had to be carried into the jail. His ankles were terribly swollen, and turned black. There being no key near that would fit the shackles, they were removed with a file.

TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Ladies Will Entertain the Employees of Burford's and the Dresden.

The Ladies' auxiliary will begin their series of entertainments for the benefit of the workmen in their rooms in the Young Men's Christian association building tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The first reception will be given to the employees of Burford's and the Dresden potteries, and a full attendance is requested. The ladies have been hard at work arranging this new departure and feel confident that their efforts will be successful. An instructive program will be carried out, which cannot but win the appreciation of the workmen.

Divorce Local Affairs.

The Republican who vells for McKinley or Reed and fails to support his local party ticket is like the woman who spends her time at foreign missionary meetings and lets her own children go to ruin.—Kansas City Journal.

Not so. The sentiment is steadily growing that the management of local affairs should be divorced from party politics and that support should be given to the best men. Your partisanship is too strong.—Toledo Blade.

PULLED HIS WHISKERS

And Otherwise Made Life Very Miserable.

A FARMER ASKS $625 DAMAGES

For Injuries Received in a Fight, in Which He Was Struck With a Mattock—An Action to Recover Judgment—A Will Filed and Hearing Set.

LISBON, April 16.—Hanover township has furnished a damage suit for the court's decision, which was placed on file last evening by Isaac Heestand. Joseph S. Falloon is the defendant, and the principal cause of the action grows out of some trouble or disagreement between Heestand and Falloon some time last week. It is alleged that Falloon struck the plaintiff with a mattock, and concluded the assault by pulling his hair and whiskers. After the encounter between plaintiff and defendant it is claimed that Falloon cruelly beat and punched two horses belonging to Heestand, and finished his work by hitching them to a mowing machine purposely to frighten the animals. For his personal injuries Heestand asks that the court award him $500, and for those inflicted on his horses $50. During last winter the plaintiff states that he owned a third interest in several tons of hay and several hundred bushels of oats and corn, which was worth $60, and which two weeks ago Falloon sold, converting the proceeds entirely to his own use. Two years ago Falloon also sold six pigs which belonged to the plaintiff, and which were worth about $15. The damages asked aggregate about $625.

J. H. Miller has filed a suit against Daniel and Henry Miller to recover a judgment for $900 due on two promissory notes of $300 each, which were given at Eggerton three years ago.

In probate court this morning the will in the estate of the late W. B. Orr, of Middleton township, was filed, and the hearing is set for April 25.

A marriage license was issued to Henry Hayman and Mary E. Heestand.

THE JUNIOR MECHANICS.

Will Celebrate Their Eighth Anniversary Tonight.

The Junior Mechanics will celebrate tonight, the event being their eighth anniversary, and a neat program has been arranged. Miss Tappan, an elocutionist of note, will be present, while Professor McDonald, of Wells-ville, will give an address. The celebration will open with a grand musical and literary program in which the talented members of the order will participate, to be followed by a sumptuous banquet which has been arranged. After partaking of the feast, which will be of an elaborate nature, the remaining hours will be spent in dancing. The anniversary is private, none but Mechanics and their ladies being admitted.

SKIFF CAPSIZED,

And Samuel Groves Received a Ducking.

Last night as Samuel Groves was casting a line from his skiff to the sand barge stationed close to the wharf boat, it capsized, and the occupant was thoroughly drenched by being dumped into the river. His fellow workmen fished him out without much difficulty, and beyond the ducking received he was uninjured.

Somebody's Mace.

A mace was handed into this office by a young man this morning who said he had found it on Washington street between Fourth and Fifth streets. The mace is a dangerous looking one, and had evidently dropped out of the pocket of some individual as he passed along the street. It is hardly probable that the mace will ever be reclaimed, as the man who would carry such a weapon would not want to be known.

Kind Words.

The Beaver Argus, in speaking of the absence of Mrs. Charles Dix at the recent concert of the pupils of the Beaver Musical Institute, says: "This was a great disappointment, as Mrs. Dix is one of the most brilliant pianists ever graduated from the institute, and her splendid performances are yet recalled as among the best of the traditions of the Taylor regime."

River Lower.

The river continues to recede slowly, but it is not feared that the stage of water will become so low for some time that navigation will have to be suspended. The Ben Hur passed down this morning and the Bedford and Lorena went up.

LOCAL NEWS.

Egotism is an undesirable feature to possess, and the man who "knows it all" is an undesirable companion for a common sense citizen. The statement of a fact is excusable. This fact is embraced in the statement that the NEWS REVIEW is by long odds the best local paper in this section of the country, and that expense or labor is not spared in recording everything of interest which occurs in East Liverpool or the surrounding country, while the paper is kept absolutely clear of everything of an objectionable nature, making it a desirable journal for the home circle. Another feature is that the NEWS REVIEW advocates only those measures which are conducive to the best interests of East Liverpool, and the enhancing of property and business interests thereof. This item is included in consequence of very flattering comments respecting the NEWS REVIEW, given to the manager of the paper by a number of the best and most solid business men and manufacturers of the city. Further than this, resolutions of a very favorable and flattering character have been received at this office, from prominent societies, commending the NEWS REVIEW for the stand it has taken in favor of the enforcement of law and order and on the public school question. Our readers will therefore bear with us when we assert that, in the matter of push, enterprise and interesting local news, the NEWS REVIEW is strictly in the swim, much to the annoyance of would-be competitors and hot enemies.

THE RIGHT KING.

In yesterday's issue of the NEWS REVIEW appeared the speech of acceptance of John J. Purinton as president of East Liverpool council. The speech has the right ring, and every true and law-abiding citizen will say amen to the same. Laws are made to be enforced, and if they prove to be unjust or oppressive laws, the tide of public sentiment or opinion will eventually wipe them from the statutes. Certain municipal laws have been ranked with the dead, in so far as their enforcement is concerned, and the failure to carry them into effect has been disastrous to good order. Roughs have been in the habit of assembling on certain corners and thoroughfares, in the absence of roundsmen, and using language which should cause the blush of shame to overspread the cheek of a wooden Indian; and they seem to delight in making use of this blackguardism at the very moment when ladies are passing. At other times, these toughs will make insulting remarks about ladies passing, until the latter dread to be compelled to run the gauntlet. This comment has reference to toughs and would be sports, habits and attendants upon saloons and grogeries; fellows who have been in the habit of acting as heelers for pot-house politicians, and who eke out a precarious living by such dishonorable and unmanly measures. The average workman of East Liverpool, he who earns his living by the sweat of his face, in the potteries, glasshouse, and other avenues of employment, is a gentleman and behaves himself as a manly man should, and East Liverpool has just cause to be proud of her workmen and workingwomen. All through President Purinton's speech, or letter, legality and common sense ideas control—ideas which will result in the material benefit of East Liverpool and her residents. In the enforcement of laws and ordinances, and in the best measures for the protection and advancement of the city, the NEWS REVIEW stands staunchly by president and council, and by each and every official whom the citizen voters have placed in power.

A Novel Will.

There has been unearthed among a bundle of old court documents at Baltimore the following unique will, executed by Mrs. Anna E. Kuhn years ago. It reads as follows: "This, my last will and testament, I bequeath all my jewelry to Kate, my old clothes to Anna, my books to Frank, my good wishes to Herman and Philip, and request that they go to church at least six times a year, and a sweet memory of myself to my loving better half, and also my inheritance from my father to go to Anna and Kate jointly. My last wish. Anna E. Kuhn."

GUN STOCKS.

The Best Made of Long Seasoned Walnut and Fashioned by Hand.

Gun stocks of good workmanship are made of well seasoned walnut. "That piece of wood," said a gunsmith, holding up a heavy billet sawed into a rude semblance of a gun stock, "may have been 20 years seasoning. I've known the pile of wood it came from these 17 years. The piece, as you see it, is worth $3. It is English walnut. This piece that I am shaping was worth $4 in the rough. It is German walnut. The Brazilian walnut costs as much as $15 for a single billet."

Cheap gun stocks are made from American walnut, which costs but a trifle in the rough, but is too porous for use in the best guns. Gun stocks are now turned out by machinery, and thus made they are cheap. The best are still handmade, and it costs about $10 to reduce the billet of seasoned walnut to the finished and ornate stock. Most stocks are now made with the pistol grip feature in addition to the shoulder piece. Doubtless the stock as a whole is a development from the pistol handle. The traditional ornamentation is a series of crossed lines. Skilled gunsmiths spend much time and care upon the fashioning of the stock. After it has been shaped to the right form it is finished to a smooth and uniform surface with laborious sandpapering, and finally shellacked and rubbed down and polished after the manner of treating the best cabinet made furniture. A gunsmith may spend two days or more in making a stock, and a handmade stock of Brazilian walnut may be worth $25. Fancy woods are not much used in gun stocks that are to be anything but show pieces. Mahogany is too brittle for the purpose, and rosewood is too heavy. The finishing has to be of a sort to resist water, and hence ordinary varnish is not used in polishing a well made gun stock. There are comparatively few gunsmiths in town that make a specialty of handmade stocks, and those are usually Germans. A gunsmith is occasionally asked to make an especially ornate stock with carvings, and possibly even inset pearl, ivory or gold. These stocks are costly, but for practical purposes they are less useful than the plain stock of English, German or Brazilian walnut.—New York Sun.

MEN WITH POOR MEMORIES.

Names of Friends and Even Servants Suddenly Forgotten.

An amusing instance of aphasia was that of an old country gentleman, who retained in his memory a large number of servants, most of whom he had known since childhood.

Wishing one day to suddenly summon his butler, he found that the man's name had for the moment, as he thought, escaped him. He determined to call his footman, but to his surprise he discovered that he could no more remember the man's name than the butler's.

He was all the more astonished when he found that he had entirely forgotten the names of every man and woman in his service.

He had also forgotten the names of his most intimate acquaintances, and so set about providing substitutes. Every man was known by his peculiarities; certain persons of rank in the neighborhood he called the "king" or the "queen" or the "grand vizier"; his butler and footman were respectively "old waiter" and "young waiter."

Another curious instance of aphasia was that of a famous Berlin physician. He was sitting in his study one morning, writing a receipt for a bill, when suddenly, after having written two words, he lost all sense of their meaning.

He tried to write on, but found he could think of no word. He threw down his pen in despair, and attempted to speak, but was equally unsuccessful. This was one of those cases, however, which soon pass off, and in a short time he was able to finish the receipt.—Odds and Ends.

Well Posted.

Some foreigners who appeared before a judge in May's Landing, N. J., the other day to be naturalized as American citizens showed the densest ignorance. To the question, "Who is the president of the United States?" a Russian answered, "The czar of Russia," and an Italian City was his answer to the question, "What is the capital of the United States?" An Italian who has been in this country for more than ten years declared that George Washington was the president of the United States, and that he made macaroni.

A. P. A. AND MCKINLEY

The Organization Fighting the Major Vigorously.

HIS RECORD DECLARED NOT CLEAR.

Other Candidates Alleged to Have Been Examined as to Their Americanism and Found All Right—The Governor's Defense—A Number of Conventions.

BOSTON, April 16.—A circular has been issued by the secretary of the advisory board of the American Protective association, from which these excerpts are taken:

"After several months' quiet, persistent, painstaking investigation as to the standing and records of these candidates on our principles and American questions the executive committee of the national advisory board recently met in Washington, D. C., and New York, where, during several sessions, the majority gathered, with the statements tabulated and the reports submitted, were carefully examined and discussed. Among the conclusions reached were these:

"First.—That the national advisory board adopt no candidate as the candidate which the order should support, as to do so this time would be most unwise and impolitic.

"Second.—After carefully analyzing the evidence, the committee found to be true the charges made against one of the candidates, viz.: Ex-Governor McKinley of discriminating in his appointments in favor of Romanists and against American Protestants, because the latter were members of the American Protective association. For example among other appointments one was that of a Roman Catholic Irishman, who had been suspended for drunkenness, while the application of an American Protestant, a Grand Army man and an A. P. A., was rejected on the ground that he belonged to the order, though he had been promised the position by the governor.

Among other instances reported to the committee is that of W. W. Lanning of Franklin county, O., who was candidate for sheriff. He was a prominent A. P. A. and known to be such; also a Republican of sterling integrity, and so popular that he came within 600 votes of carrying a county that was Democratic by 1500 nominally. After his defeat, backed by the most prominent Republicans in the state for position of district oil inspector, McKinley said that the reason why he could not use Lanning was because of his prominence in the order.

"Third.—Among the managers and supporters, secret or public, of Major McKinley, are Richard Korins, a Romanist of Missouri, who has again and again, in the public press, denounced the A. P. A. organization in the most vindictive terms, and sought, but in vain, to have the national Republican convention denounce the organization; also Stephen Elkins of West Virginia.

"Fourth.—Of the other candidates, viz.: William B. Allison of Iowa, Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, Senator Culom of Illinois, Governor Bradley of Kentucky, Governor Morton of New York, ex-President Harrison and Thos. B. Reed the committee was satisfied with their Americanism and sympathy with the principles of the order."

At the Kentucky Republican state convention at Louisville the A. P. A. made a hot fight on McKinley.

A fight was also made at the Republican state convention in Nebraska, but of no avail.

MAJOR MCKINLEY'S DEFENSE.

Editor Morrow Says He Favors Neither Catholics nor the A. P. A.

CLEVELAND, April 16.—The following statement is given out by James B. Morrow, editor of the Cleveland Leader:

Persons who pretend to be conspicuous members of the American Protective association have given circulation to the statement that Hon. William McKinley is a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians; that Mr. M. A. Hanna, who is Mr. McKinley's personal and political friend, is a Roman Catholic; that Mr. Boyle, Mr. McKinley's private secretary, is also a member of the Catholic church; and finally, that while Mr. McKinley was governor of Ohio, his appointments were largely made from the membership of a certain religious denomination. It is urged, therefore, that Mr. McKinley is not the right kind of an American.

This statement is untrue in part and in whole. Mr. McKinley's Americanism reaches back to the war for independence. William McKinley himself was a private in the Union army, while yet a boy, and carried a musket for four years.

He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and has been a member of that denomination nearly all his life. His ancestors and his family for two centuries have been Protestants—Methodists and Presbyterians. At this time Mr. McKinley is one of the trustees of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Canton, O. Moreover, Mr. McKinley is not a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians nor of the American Protective association. However, he is a Freemason and has been for many years; he is a Knight Templar, a Knight of Pythias, a comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic, a member of the Union Veterans Legion, of the Sons of the American Revolution, of the Loyal Legion and of a college fraternity. And these are the only secret societies with which Mr. McKinley has any connection whatever.

The charge that his appointments to office, while he was governor of Ohio, were largely made from the Roman Catholic church, or any other church, is ridiculous and untrue. He believes that all men should be permitted to worship God in the manner that squares with their conscience. I am authorized to say that Major McKinley knows nothing whatever about the application of a committee from any organization to visit him at Canton. He has never refused to meet any person or committee of any kind, nor declined to have any committee interview him upon any subject whatever.

It should also be stated that both Mr. M. A. Hanna and Mr. Boyle, who is private secretary to Major McKinley, are life-long members of the Protestant Episcopal church. I make this statement in behalf of truth, so that every American citizen may know the exact fact.

Put Forth Bland For President.

SEDALIA, Mo., April 16.—The Democratic state convention elected Senators Vest and Cokrell and Governor Stone for delegate—at-large to Chicago. A free silver plank was adopted and Bland's name was put forth for the presidency. Delegate Bell threw a glass of water in the face of Chairman Maffitt, the state central committee, in a fight over a delegate.

Washington Democratic Convention.

TACOMA, April 16.—The silver men in the Democratic state convention made an all day fight for a silver platform and a silver delegation instructed to vote for a free coinage candidate for president. President Cleveland's administration was endorsed. A free silver resolution was adopted, but the delegates were not instructed.

New Jersey Convention Today.

TRENTON, April 16.—The Republican state convention will be held in this city today. The delegates-at-large who are slated are United States Senator William J. Sewell of Camden, Hon. Garrett A. Hobart of Passaic, Chairman Franklin Murphy of Newark and ex-Congressman John Kean of Elizabeth. It is expected that the convention will instruct for McKinley.

McKinley Captures North Dakota.

FARGO, N. D., April 16.—The Republican state convention, just closed in this city, turned down free silver. The whole northwest has looked to this state for the result on the silver question and the presidential support. The delegates to the St. Louis convention were instructed to use all honorable means to support McKinley.

Colorado Democrats For Silver.

DENVER, April 16.—The Democratic state convention, after adopting a free silver platform and electing one delegate-at-large, adjourned. Senator Tillman of South Carolina then spoke in the same theater. He made a sensational attack on Cleveland, Carlisle, Sherman and McKinley.

Nebraska Instructs For McKinley.

OMAHA, April 16.—The Republican state convention instructed its delegates-at-large to St. Louis to vote for McKinley. A resolution denouncing Thurston for his political activity, introduced by ex-Governor Cronuz, was tabled.

The Convention For Bradley.

LOUISVILLE, April 16.—Judge Morrow, the Bradley man, was chosen temporary chairman of the Republican convention, the fight of the McKinley men proving futile. Little else was done. Bradley delegates and a gold plank are assured.

McKinley Delegates Chosen.

ASHVILLE, N. C., April 16.—Ninth district Republican convention instructed for McKinley.

Consul Nominated For Erzeroum.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The president has nominated Leo Bergholz of New York to be consul of the United States at Erzeroum, Armenia.

Bering Sea Treaty Ratified.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The senate in executive session ratified the Bering sea arbitration treaty.

Tornado In South Dakota.

FAULKTON, S. D., April 16.—A tornado has passed through Faulk county, resulting in two deaths and several injured. Considerable damage was done at Cresbard, Millard and Burkersere.

Jealousy Causes a Double Crime.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Frederick Merrick shot and killed his wife Ida in her bedroom at their home in Brooklyn and then suicided. Jealousy.

Italians To Be Deported.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The immigration authorities at Ellis Island have ordered 531 Italians at present detained there, to be sent back to Italy.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE.

It Meets and Names Officers For the New Executive Committee.

COLUMBUS, April 16.—The Republican state central committee elected the following officers for the new executive committee: Chairman, C. L. Kurtz, Columbus; Secretary, W. S. Matthews, Gallia county; treasurer, Geo. W. Sinks, Columbus. The following executive committee was chosen:

Frank Bader, Cincinnati; John A. Caldwell, Cincinnati; Dr. J. E. Lowes, Dayton; Charles Halfhill, Rockford; A. B. Holcombe, Paulding; D. Q. Morrow, Hillsboro; C. F. Groce, Circleville; J. E. Freshwater, Delaware; C. P. Griffin, Toledo; J. L. Patterson, Waverly; Frank A. Kelly, New Lexington; C. D. Firestone, Columbus; Charles N. Keys, Sandusky; L. C. Laylen, Norwalk; W. D. Guilbert, Columbus; ex-Senator Harvey J. Eckley, Carrollton; George Adams, Millersburg; Judge I. W. King, Youngstown; A. E. Seaton, Ravenna; Hon. W. J. White, Cleveland; Mayor R. E. McKisson, Cleveland.

A Coal Route to the Lakes.

LIMA, O., April 16.—The stockholders of the Columbus, Lima and Milwaukee Railroad company have voted to change the name to the Michigan, Ohio and Southern Railroad company. They also authorized the cancellation of the old mortgage bonds and a new issue of $10,000,000 of stock and $10,000,000 of bonds. The new company will absorb the West Virginia, Ohio and Western; Columbus, Lima and Milwaukee; Detroit and Toledo Short Line; Central Michigan; Michigan and Ohio Belt Line and several other short railroads in Michigan and Ohio, thus connecting the coal fields of West Virginia and Ohio with the lakes.

Failed to Form a Pool.

CLEVELAND, April 16.—It is learned that a secret meeting of the steel rod manufacturers of the country has been held here for the purpose of effecting a general pooling of interests. It was a failure, it is understood, due to the demands of the Consolidated Steel and Wire company and the Illinois Steel company for larger proportions of the output than the others were willing to concede.

The Delegates For McKinley.

HAMILTON, O., April 16.—The Third district Republican convention confirmed Robert Wilson of Middletown and William E. Crame of Dayton as delegates to the St. Louis convention. They had both been previously nominated by their respective counties. The alternates are E. B. Weston of Dayton and W. S. Farnshall of Camden. The delegates were instructed for McKinley.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

A Number of Bills Passed and Others Receive Consideration.

COLUMBUS, April 11.—A bill has passed in the senate to abolish the office of county infirmary director and placing infirmaries under control of county commissioners.

Other bills passed in the senate were: Repealing section of pure food law, which gives the informer half the fine.

Providing that county commissioners, township trustees and boards of education, except in cities of the first class, shall not incur any obligation for the payment of money unless the auditor or clerk thereof shall first certify that the money to meet such obligation is in the treasury or has been levied and placed on the duplicate.

House bill, making appropriations to meet deficiencies.

Bills passed in the house were: Providing that railroad companies consolidating in the state can issue bonds in excess of their capital stock.

Providing that voters shall remain 100 feet from polls at primary elections.

Senate bill amending section 2501 so as to provide that councils may renew grants for franchises to street railway companies.

Senate bill making it a felony to harbor females under 18 in house of ill fame.

Resolutions considered were: Senate joint resolution memorializing congress to erect a monument on the site of the Battle of Fort Recovery November, 1791. Lost.

Joint resolution providing for the appointment of a commission of five members by the governor to report as to the advisability of selling or leasing a part or all of the Ohio canal system. Adopted.

Joint resolution providing for the appointment of five commissioners to represent Ohio at the Tennessee Centennial exposition at Nashville. Adopted.

Condition of the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The treasury has lost $255,500 in gold coin and $8,000 in bars, leaving the true amount of the gold reserve, $126,616,494.

Dupont Case in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The senate spent the entire day on the Dupont case, Mr. Gray of Delaware, arguing against the claim of Mr. Dupont.

At other times, these toughs will make insulting remarks about ladies passing, until the latter dread to be compelled to run the gauntlet. This comment has reference to toughs and would be sports, habits and attendants upon saloons and grogeries; fellows who have been in the habit of acting as heelers for pot-house politicians, and who eke out a precarious living by such dishonorable and unmanly measures. The average workman of East Liverpool, he who earns his living by the sweat of his face, in the potteries, glasshouse, and other avenues of employment, is a gentleman and behaves himself as a manly man should, and East Liverpool has just cause to be proud of her workmen and workingwomen. All through President Purinton's speech, or letter, legality and common sense ideas control—ideas which will result in the material benefit of East Liverpool and her residents. In the enforcement of laws and ordinances, and in the best measures for the protection and advancement of the city, the NEWS REVIEW stands staunchly by president and council, and by each and every official whom the citizen voters have placed in power.

A Novel Will.

There has been unearthed among a bundle of old court documents at Baltimore the following unique will, executed by Mrs. Anna E. Kuhn years ago. It reads as follows: "This, my last will and testament, I bequeath all my jewelry to Kate, my old clothes to Anna, my books to Frank, my good wishes to Herman and Philip, and request that they go to church at least six times a year, and a sweet memory of myself to my loving better half, and also my inheritance from my father to go to Anna and Kate jointly. My last wish. Anna E. Kuhn."

GUN STOCKS.

The Best Made of Long Seasoned Walnut and Fashioned by Hand.

Gun stocks of good workmanship are made of well seasoned walnut. "That piece of wood," said a gunsmith, holding up a heavy billet sawed into a rude semblance of a gun stock, "may have been 20 years seasoning. I've known the pile of wood it came from these 17 years. The piece, as you see it, is worth $3. It is English walnut. This piece that I am shaping was worth $4 in the rough. It is German walnut. The Brazilian walnut costs as much as $15 for a single billet."

Cheap gun stocks are made from American walnut, which costs but a trifle in the rough, but is too porous for use in the best guns. Gun stocks are now turned out by machinery, and thus made they are cheap. The best are still handmade, and it costs about $10 to reduce the billet of seasoned walnut to the finished and ornate stock. Most stocks are now made with the pistol grip feature in addition to the shoulder piece. Doubtless the stock as a whole is a development from the pistol handle. The traditional ornamentation is a series of crossed lines. Skilled gunsmiths spend much time and care upon the fashioning of the stock. After it has been shaped to the right form it is finished to a smooth and uniform surface with laborious sandpapering, and finally shellacked and rubbed down and polished after the manner of treating the best cabinet made furniture. A gunsmith may spend two days or more in making a stock, and a handmade stock of Brazilian walnut may be worth $25. Fancy woods are not much used in gun stocks that are to be anything but show pieces. Mahogany is too brittle for the purpose, and rosewood is too heavy. The finishing has to be of a sort to resist water, and hence ordinary varnish is not used in polishing a well made gun stock. There are comparatively few gunsmiths in town that make a specialty of handmade stocks, and those are usually Germans. A gunsmith is occasionally asked to make an especially ornate stock with carvings, and possibly even inset pearl, ivory or gold. These stocks are costly, but for practical purposes they are less useful than the plain stock of English, German or Brazilian walnut.—New York Sun.

MEN WITH POOR MEMORIES.

Names of Friends and Even Servants Suddenly Forgotten.

An amusing instance of aphasia was that of an old country gentleman, who retained in his employ a large number of servants, most of whom he had known since childhood.

Wishing one day to suddenly summon his butler, he found that the man's name had for the moment, as he thought, escaped him. He determined to call his footman, but to his surprise he discovered that he could no more remember the man's name than the butler's.

He was all the more astonished when he found that he had entirely forgotten the names of every man and woman in his service.

He had also forgotten the names of his most intimate acquaintances, and so set about providing substitutes. Every man was known by his peculiarities; certain persons of rank in the neighborhood he called the "king" or the "queen" or the "grand vizier;" his butler and footman were respectively "old waiter" and "young waiter."

Another curious instance of aphasia was that of a famous Berlin physician. He was sitting in his study one morning, writing a receipt for a bill, when suddenly, after having written two words, he lost all sense of their meaning.

He tried to write on, but found he could think of no word. He threw down his pen in despair, and attempted to speak, but was equally unsuccessful.

This was one of those cases, however, which soon pass off, and in a short time he was able to finish the receipt.—Odds and Ends.

Well Posted.

Some foreigners who appeared before a judge in May's Landing, N. J., the other day to be naturalized as American citizens showed the densest ignorance. To the question, "Who is the president of the United States?" a Russian answered, "The czar of Russia," and Atlantic City was his answer to the question, "What is the capital of the United States?" An Italian who has been in this country for more than ten years declared that George Washington was the president of the United States, and that he made macaroni.

HIS RECORD DECLARED NOT CLEAR.

Other Candidates Alleged to Have Been Examined as to Their Americanism and Found All Right—The Governor's Defense—A Number of Conventions.

BOSTON, April 16.—A circular has been issued by the secretary of the advisory board of the American Protective association, from which these excerpts are taken: "After several months' quiet, persistent, painstaking investigation as to the standing and records of these candidates on our principles and American questions the executive committee of the national advisory board recently met in Washington, D. C., and New York, where, during several sessions, the majority gathered, with the statements tabulated and the reports submitted were carefully examined and discussed. Among the conclusions reached were these:

"First—That the national advisory board adopt no candidate as the candidate which the order should support, as to do this time would be most unwise and impolitic.

"Second—After carefully analyzing the evidence, the committee found to be true the charges made against one of the candidates, viz: Ex-Governor McKinley of discriminating in his appointments in favor of Romanists and against American Protestants, because the latter were members of the American Protective association. For example among other appointments one was that of a Roman Catholic Irishman, who had been suspended for drunkenness, while the application of an American Protestant, a Grand Army man and an A. P. A., was rejected on the ground that he belonged to the order, though he had been promised the position by the governor.

Among other instances reported to the committee is that of W. W. Lanning of Franklin county, O., who was candidate for sheriff. He was a prominent A. P. A. and known to be such; also a Republican of sterling integrity, and so popular that he came within 600 votes of carrying a county that was Democratic by 1500 nominally. After his defeat, backed by the most prominent Republicans in the state for position of district oil inspector, McKinley said that the reason why he could not use Lanning was because of his prominence in the order.

"Third—Among the managers and supporters, secret or public, of Major McKinley, are Richard Kerins, a Romanist of Missouri, who has again and again in the public press, denounced the A. P. A. organization in the most vindictive terms, and sought, but in vain, to have the national Republican convention denounce the organization also; also Stephen Elkins of West Virginia.

"Fourth—Of the other candidates, viz: William B. Allison of Iowa, Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, Senator Cullom of Illinois, Governor Bradley of Kentucky, Governor Morton of New York, ex-President Harrison and Thos. B. Reed the committee was satisfied with their Americanism and sympathy with the principles of the order."

At the Kentucky Republican state convention at Louisville the A. P. A. made a hot fight on McKinley.

A fight was also made at the Republican state convention in Nebraska, but of no avail.

MAJOR MCKINLEY'S DEFENSE.

Editor Morrow Says He Favors Neither Catholics nor the A. P. A.

CLEVELAND, April 16.—The following statement is given out by James B. Morrow, editor of the Cleveland Leader:

"Persons who pretend to be conspicuous members of the American Protective association have given circulation to the statement that Hon. William McKinley is a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians; that Mr. M. A. Hanna, who is Mr. McKinley's personal and political friend, is a Roman Catholic; that Mr. Boyle, Mr. McKinley's private secretary, is also a member of the Catholic church; and finally, that while Mr. McKinley was governor of Ohio, his appointments were largely made from the membership of a certain religious denomination. It is urged, therefore, that Mr. McKinley is not the right kind of an American."

This statement is untrue in part and in whole. Mr. McKinley's Americanism reaches back to the war for independence. William McKinley himself was a private in the Union army, while yet a boy, and carried a musket for four years.

He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and has been a member of that denomination nearly all his life. His ancestors and his family for two centuries have been Protestants—Methodists and Presbyterians. At this time Mr. McKinley is one of the trustees of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Canton, O. Moreover, Mr. McKinley is not a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians nor of the American Protective association. However, he is a Freemason and has been for many years; he is a Knight Templar, a Knight of Pythias, a comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic, a member of the Union Veteran Legion, of the Sons of the American Revolution, of the Loyal Legion and of a college fraternity. And these are the only secret societies with which Mr. McKinley has any connection whatever.

The charge that his appointments to office, while he was governor of Ohio, were largely made from the Roman Catholic church, or any other church, is ridiculous and untrue. He believes that all men should be permitted to worship God in the manner that squares with their conscience. I am authorized to say that Major McKinley knows nothing whatever about the application of a committee from any organization to visit him at Canton. He has never refused to meet any person or committee of any kind, nor declined to have any committee interview him upon any subject whatever.

It should also be stated that both Mr. M. A. Hanna and Mr. Boyle, who is private secretary to Major McKinley, are lifelong members of the Protestant Episcopal church. I make this statement in behalf of truth, so that every American citizen may know the exact fact.

Put Forth Bland For President.

SEDALIA, Mo., April 16.—The Democratic state convention elected Senators East and Cockrell and Governor Stone for delegate—at-large to Chicago. A free silver plank was adopted and Bland's name was put forth for the presidency. Delegate Bell threw a glass of water in the face of Chairman Maffitt, of the state central committee, in a fight over a delegate.

Washington Democratic Convention.

TACOMA, April 16.—The silver men in the Democratic state convention made an all day fight for a silver platform and a silver delegation instructed to vote for a free coinage candidate for president. President Cleveland's administration was endorsed. A free silver resolution was adopted, but the delegates were not instructed.

New Jersey Convention Today.

TRENTON, April 16.—The Republican state convention will be held in this city today. The delegates-at-large who are slated are United States Senator William J. Sewell of Camden, Hon. Garrett A. Hobart of Passaic, Chairman Franklin Murphy of Newark and ex-Congressman John Kean of Elizabeth. It is expected the convention will instruct for McKinley.

McKinley Captures North Dakota.

FARGO, N. D., April 16.—The Republican state convention, just closed in this city, turned down free silver. The whole northwest has looked to this state for the result on the silver question and the presidential support. The delegates to the St. Louis convention were instructed to use all honorable means to support McKinley.

Colorado Democrats For Silver.

DENVER, April 16.—The Democratic state convention, after adopting a free silver platform and electing one delegate-at-large, adjourned. Senator Tillman of South Carolina then spoke in the same theater. He made a sensational attack on Cleveland, Carlisle, Sherman and McKinley.

Nebraska Instructs For McKinley.

OMAHA, April 16.—The Republican state convention instructed its delegates-at-large to St. Louis to vote for McKinley. A resolution denouncing Thurston for his political activity, introduced by ex-Governor Crounse, was tabled.

The Convention For Bradley.

LOUISVILLE, April 16.—Judge Morrow, the Bradley man was chosen temporary chairman of the Republican convention, the fight of the McKinley men proving futile. Little else was done. Bradley delegates and a gold plank are assured.

McKinley Delegates Chosen.

ASHVILLE, N. C., April 16.—Ninth district Republican convention instructed for McKinley.

Consul Nominated For Erzeroum.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The president has nominated Leo Bergholz of New York to be consul of the United States at Erzeroum, Armenia.

Bering Sea Treaty Ratified.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The senate in executive session ratified the Bering sea arbitration treaty.

Tornado In South Dakota.

FAULKTON, S. D., April 16.—A tornado hit passed through Faulk county, resulting in two deaths and several injured. Considerable damage was done at Cresbard, Millard and Burketown.

Jealousy Causes a Double Crime.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Frederick Merriek shot and killed his wife Ida in her bedroom at their home in Brooklyn and then suicided. Jealousy.

Italians to Be Deported.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The immigration authorities at Ellis Island have ordered 531 Italians, at present detained there, to be sent back to Italy.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE.

It Meets and Names Officers For the New Executive Committee.

COLUMBUS, April 16.—The Republican state central committee elected the following officers for the new executive committee: Chairman, C. L. Kurtz, Columbus; Secretary, W. S. Matthews, Gallia county treasurer, Geo. W. Sinks, Columbus. The following executive committee was chosen:

Frank Bader, Cincinnati; John A. Caldwell, Cincinnati; Dr. J. E. Lowes, Dayton; Charles Halfhill, Rockford; A. B. Holcombe, Paulding; D. Q. Morrow, Hillsboro; C. F. Groce, Circleville; J. E. Freshwater, Delaware; C. P. Griffin, Toledo; J. L. Patterson, Waverly; Frank A. Kelly, New Lexington; C. D. Firestone, Columbus; Charles N. Keys, Sandusky; L. C. Layton, Norwalk; W. D. Guilbert, Columbus; ex-Senator Harvey J. Eckley, Carrollton; George Adams, Millersburg; Judge I. W. King, Youngstown; A. E. Seaton, Ravenna; Hon. W. J. White, Cleveland; Mayor R. E. McKisson, Cleveland.

A Coal Route to the Lakes.

LIMA, O., April 16.—The stockholders of the Columbus, Lima and Milwaukee Railroad company have voted to change the name to the Michigan, Ohio and Southern Railroad company. They also authorized the cancellation of the old mortgage bonds and a new issue of $10,000,000 of stock and $10,000,000 of bonds. The new company will absorb the West Virginia, Ohio and Western; Columbus, Lima and Milwaukee; Detroit and Toledo Short Line; Central Michigan; Michigan and Ohio Belt Line and several other short railroads in Michigan and Ohio, thus connecting the coal fields of West Virginia and Ohio with the lakes.

Failed to Form a Pool.

CLEVELAND, April 16.—It is learned that a secret meeting of the steel rod manufacturers of the country has been held here for the purpose of effecting a general pooling of interests. It was a failure, it is understood, due to the demands of the Consolidated Steel and Wire company and the Illinois Steel company for larger proportions of the output than the others were willing to concede.

The Delegates For McKinley.

HAMILTON, O., April 16.—The Third district Republican convention confirmed Robert Wilson of Middletown and William E. Crame of Dayton as delegates to the St. Louis convention. They had both been previously nominated by their respective counties. The alternates are E. B. Weston of Dayton and W. S. Farnshall of Camden. The delegates were instructed for McKinley.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

A Number of Bills Passed and Others Receive Consideration.

COLUMBUS, April 11.—A bill has passed in the senate to abolish the office of county infirmity director and placing infirmaries under control of county commissioners.

Other bills passed in the senate were: Repealing section of pure food law, which gives the informer half the fine. Providing that county commissioners, township trustees and boards of education, except in cities of the first class, shall not incur any obligation for the payment of money unless the auditor or clerk thereof shall first certify that the money to meet such obligation is in the treasury or has been levied and placed on the duplicate.

House bill, making appropriations to meet deficiencies.

Bills passed in the house were: Providing that railroad companies consolidating in the state can issue bonds in excess of their capital stock.

Providing that voters shall remain 100 feet from polls at primary elections.

Senate bill amending section 2501 so as to provide that councils may renew grants for franchises to street railway companies.

Senate bill making it a felony to harbor females under 18 in house of ill fame.

Resolutions considered were: Senate joint resolution memorializing congress to erect a monument on the site of the Battle of Fort Recovery November, 1791. Lost.

Joint resolution providing for the appointment of a commission of five members by the governor to report as to the advisability of selling or leasing a part or all of the Ohio canal system. Adopted.

Joint resolution providing for the appointment of five commissioners to represent Ohio at the Tennessee Centennial exposition at Nashville. Adopted.

Condition of the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The treasury has lost $255,500 in gold coin and $8,000 in bars, leaving the true amount of the gold reserve, $126,616,494.

Dupont Case in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The senate spent the entire day on the Dupont case, Mr. Gray of Delaware, arguing against the claim of Mr. Dupont.

WILL PLAY BALL.

Thompson's and Knowles' Will Come Together Saturday.

Arrangements have been made for a game of ball between the clubs of Thompson's and Knowles' potteries, to take place on the West End ground Saturday. The makeup of the teams are as follows:

Thompson's.....	Knowles'
Phillips.....	catcher.....
Gaigher.....	pitcher.....
Speck.....	short.....
McShane.....	first.....
Lynch.....	second.....
Jerry Delaney.....	third.....
Allison.....	left.....
Hockathorne.....	center.....
Jim Delaney.....	right.....
C. McShane.....

The boys are making use of all their spare moments in practice, and both clubs are confident of victory. Manager Twaddle, of the Thompson club, says they will play any pottery team in the city for $25.

The Campground Tombstones and professional men have at last arranged a game, and will do battle on the West End grounds on next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Both teams are practicing daily and a well contested game is expected.

A pottery league, combining almost all the factories in the city, is being talked of by the baseball enthusiasts, and an effort will be made to organize.

The barbers have also caught the base ball fever and are now trying to arrange a game for Monday or Thursday of next week. The game will be between the white and colored barbers.

Young William Wood Discharged.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—When the case of William Wood, charged as an accomplice in the attempt to procure an abortion on the person of Pearl Bryan, was called, the prosecuting attorney said the state had no evidence to warrant a trial, and Judge Brook dismissed the case.

United Mine Workers' Convention.

COLUMBUS, April 16.—The miners' convention decided to hold the convention hereafter the second week in January, instead of April. Resolutions were adopted favoring free silver and urging the adoption of cash payments and abolishing of company stores.

Putting In Gas.

The electric plant is having gas connections put in in order to lessen the amount of labor caused by the use of coal.

Have You Had the Grip?

If you have, you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to heal your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease.

Central Committee Meet.

The Republican central committee met last night and organized the new body, and finished up all old business.

Given Judgment.

Taylor & Morley were this morning given judgment by default against Pusey & Humrickhouse for $100.

A Life For 50 Cents.

Many people have been cured of kidney diseases by taking a 50 cent bottle of Foley's Kidney cure.

Moved to Pittsburg.

Mrs. Anna James had her household goods moved to Pittsburg this morning.

Many a free man who is sick would willingly change places with a healthy convict. A man might as well
be shut out of enjoyment one way as another. If he is shut up in a cell,
he cannot engage in active pleasures.
He cannot see the beauties of nature and art, but he can imagine them, and so get some benefit from them. A man who is sick
has these things before him, but he doesn't
see them as they exist.
He cannot look on anything with appreciative eyes. His physical condition warps his vision and his mental. He cannot enjoy anything, no matter how enjoyable it may be in the abstract.
A man with a foul taste in his mouth, with a bilious headache, and with poisonous refuses matter circulating all through his body cannot enjoy anything. He honestly believes that the world is all wrong, and that it is a
that the world is all wrong, and that it is a despondent, cynical. Life isn't worth living to him. Such a simple thing causes this condition that it is absurd and ridiculous to think of a sensible man remaining in it. Symptoms like these come from constipation. It is the most prevalent of all causes of sickness. It makes a man worthless for work or pleasure. It is a stubborn trouble when you do not treat it properly, and a simple one when you do. It is cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They were made for this purpose, and no other. They accomplish this purpose as no other preparation ever did. An unscrupulous druggist may try to sell you something else. Look out! It is your health that is at stake. It is your health against an extra profit on the thing he says is "just as good." Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—don't forget—don't take anything else.

Difficulties of Carnation Culture.

Luck is not a reliable factor in the difficult problem of carnation culture. It demands exhaustive knowledge of the habits, requirements and diseases of the plant, unceasing watchfulness and unremitting labor the year through. Even when all is done that seems possible to merit success, the grower is liable to the exasperation of finding that particular varieties, upon which he may have based his most sanguine expectations, obsti-nately refuse to flourish under his care.
Almost every carnation culturist knows varieties that he "simply cannot raise," and neither he, nor anybody else, can tell the reason why. Of course, there must be something lacking, in soil, water, air or treatment, which they require, but it seems as if they were capable of taking offense at him, or his surroundings, and preferring death, or at least unproductive life, to endurance of the association.—Scribner's.

Willing to Oblige.

Ex-Senator Sawyer was quoted in Washington as saying: "When they ask me if I want to be a delegate, I tell them 'No, I don't care anything about it,' that I have been to a good many conventions; that I am pretty near 80 years old; and that if any of the boys want to go in my place I am perfectly willing to have 'em. At the same time, if they want to make me a delegate I'll accept. I've got nothing else to do, but I'm too old to have any ambition, and hereafter will do anything that is wanted of me, but no more."

New Idea in Railway Tracks.

The annoyance of wheels slipping on tracks, especially in up grades, and the tremendous resistance experienced have led to a new invention. The rail is provided with an edge or rim covered with cogs or teeth, and the wheel has similar cogs which engage with them. These cogs are set on diagonally, inclining downward, and are less likely to accumulate dust and dirt.—New York Ledger.

FUN WHILE WAITING.

A MYSTERIOUS FAT GERMAN IN A NEW YORK FERRYHOUSE.

He Seemed to Be Sleepy, Yet He Provided Entertainment For Those Present Until the Boat Arrived, and Then He Went Aboard and Disappeared.

He was a fat German. He looked as if he might be a prosperous saloon keeper. He signaled his entrance into the Cortlandt Street ferry house by a series of loud meows which sounded so natural that the half hundred people who were waiting for the boat looked around for the cats. The fat man was under the weather. He strolled over to the steam radiator in the center of the room, and in a couple of minutes voices were heard. First they were in the northeast corner of the room up near the ceiling.
Some one up there seemed to be carrying on an animated conversation with himself. It was plain that the some one was a German.

"Chakey," said the voice, "vod your vife vill say to you alretty, ha? You voz one tam fool k'vick yet."

The women in the ferryhouse began to look nervous. They gazed at the ceiling at the spot from where the voice seemed to come. The men were looking there too. The fat German stood by the radiator, his head over his breast, and seemed to be sound asleep.

"Fire! Fire! Fire!" cried a voice in the southwest corner.

Everybody jumped up. The women grabbed the arms of their escorts. The fat German still slept, and the voice sounded again, this time seemingly from the platform of an automatic weighing machine.

"Chakey, you vos a prute! Vod for you vand der ladies do sgare vod? I bunch your nose alretty."

This was somewhat reassuring. Everybody seemed to realize at the same instant that there was a ventriloquist with a big range of voice around somewhere, and everybody looked at the German. He seemed still to be asleep.
But in a moment he moved uneasily.
Then he lifted the ragged stump of a cigar he had in his hand, opened his eyes sleepily and put the stump into his mouth. Some fire was left in the cigar stump, but he didn't seem to notice it. He munched on the butt as if it were a sweet morsel. Everybody was watching him. He chewed perhaps a minute. Then he swallowed the stump, and the next instant pulled a new cigar out of his ear, bit off the end and lighted it.

"I no pny cigars," he said. "I maig dem."

The crowd was mightily interested and gathered close around. He didn't seem to like that, and he snorted:
"Vod you dink, you vools beoble?
Gauze I maig a cigar you dink I vos a vool. I unmaig id." Saying which he put the fresh cigar, lighted as it was, back into his ear. He seemed to shove it out of sight and calmly took from his other ear the ragged butt that he had but a moment before chewed up and swallowed. He pulled on it. It was still lighted. One of his eyelids began twitching.

"My log vos gone," he said. "I haff nails in my head ven vools log ad me."

With the tips of his fingers he lifted the twitching lid and pulled out a five inch iron spike, like those used to fasten down steel rails.
"I vos durn do one beice off iron al-retty if you beebles dand ka'vit," he snorted, and he pulled another spike from the other eye. At the same instant the ragged butt disappeared, and in its place was another fresh cigar. He lit that. Next he pulled a couple of yards of muslin out of his mouth and wiped his eyes, after which he put back the spikes. He seemed to drive them right into the ball of either eye. The women were shocked and turned away. He pulled a whisky glass from his pocket, bit pieces out of it and chewed them with relish.

"Chentlemen," he said, "I voz 'un-
gry. Cand you hellub me?"

"Thought it was a fake like that,"

said two or three of the men in the crowd.

"Well, it's a cold day when he gets any of my money," said two or three others.

"Money?" growled the fat German.

"You dink I am lige you vools beebles vod ad mead nid. I voz nod. I ead baber; do voz cheaber. Vill scommedy hellub a boor man do a bieice off baber?
Ziff me dod," he said, snatching an evening paper from the hands of one of the men. He tore two pages from it, and beginning on the corner of one he stuffed it into his mouth and ate it. At least it disappeared. Then he tackled the other page, and that went.

"Poor man," said one sympathetic woman, "he must be hungry. But how can he eat that stuff?"

The second page was gone, all but a little corner. The fat German's cheek bulged. A voice over his head said:

"Chakey, you've got doo much; you vos a hog."

He seized the corner of the paper that was sticking out and began pulling at
it. It came in the shape of a perfect rope, alternately red, white and blue in color. He held his head back and pulled. Still the colored rope kept coming.
It ended at about the second yard. He handled it tenderly a moment, juggled it around, and finally turning it point down stuck it down his throat. Down and down it went, until it was out of sight. He closed his mouth. The cigar all this time had been missing. It appeared now, still lighted.

The coming in of the boat stopped the fun. The fat German was the first man aboard. He sank into a corner in the men's cabin and in two minutes was snoring. Who he was or what became of him nobody on the boat knew. He went out upon the rear deck when the boat was half way to Jersey City and disappeared.—New York Sun.

WILL PLAY BALL.

Thompson's and Knowles' Will Come Together Saturday.

Arrangements have been made for a game of ball between the clubs of Thompson's and Knowles' potteries, to take place on the West End ground Saturday. The makeup of the teams are as follows:

Thompson's..... Knowles'
Phillips.....catcher..... Albright
Gallagher.....pitcher..... P. McShane
Speck.....short..... J. Reark
McShane.....first..... Lounds
Lynch.....second..... C. Reark
Jerry Delaney.....third..... Pickall
Allison.....left..... Randolph
Heckathorne.....center..... Salsbury
Jim Delaney..... right..... C. McShane

The boys are making use of all their spare moments in practice, and both clubs are confident of victory. Manager Twaddle, of the Thompson club, says they will play any pottery team in the city for $25.

The Campground Tombstones and professional men have at last arranged a game, and will do battle on the West End grounds on next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Both teams are practicing daily and a well contested game is expected.

A pottery league, combining almost all the factories in the city, is being talked of by the baseball enthusiasts, and an effort will be made to organize.

The barbers have also caught the baseball fever and are now trying to arrange a game for Monday or Thursday of next week. The game will be between the white and colored barbers.

Notice to Ice Consumers.

We are in the business to stay, and can guarantee our patrons an unlimited supply of good, clean and pure ice, made entirely from distilled water, and recommended by physicians and chemists everywhere for its purity.

To secure our rates it will be necessary to contract for the entire season's supply of ice. Collections made semi-monthly. All complaints should be promptly reported at the office.

Telephone No. 98 or postal card order will receive prompt attention.

* THE EAST LIVERPOOL ICE CO.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to be cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. #### Mass Gatherers.

Several weeks ago, the News Review informed the public that a base ball park, desirably located, would be brought into existence near the West Virginia landing of the new bridge. Rip VanWinkle, employed as a news-gatherer on a sheet published in the lower regions, awakened from his slumbers this week, and relished the chestnut as a matter of news. Truly, the moss covered journal of the lower regions is not much of a newspaper.

At the same time, if they want to make me a delegate I'll accept. I've got nothing else to do, but I'm too old to have any ambition, and hereafter will do anything that is wanted of me, but no more."

This is a very sensible and moderate observation. But it applies to all sorts of jobs, including United States senator.—La Crosse (Wis.) Chronicle.

New Idea in Railway Tracks.

The annoyance of wheels slipping on tracks, especially in up grades, and the tremendous resistance experienced have led to a new invention. The rail is provided with an edge or rim covered with cogs or teeth, and the wheel has similar cogs which engage with them. These cogs are set on diagonally, inclining downward, and are less likely to accumulate dust and dirt.—New York Ledger.

FUN WHILE WAITING.

A MYSTERIOUS FAT GERMAN IN A NEW YORK FERRYHOUSE.

He Seemed to Be Sleepy, Yet He Provided Entertainment For Those Present Until the Boat Arrived, and Then He Went Aboard and Disappeared.

He was a fat German. He looked as if he might be a prosperous saloon keeper. He signaled his entrance into the Cortlandt Street ferry house by a series of loud sneezes which sounded so natural that the half hundred people who were waiting for the boat looked around for the cats. The fat man was under the weather. He strolled over to the steam radiator in the center of the room, and in a couple of minutes voices were heard. First they were in the northeast corner of the room up near the ceiling. Some one up there seemed to be carrying on an animated conversation with himself. It was plain that the some one was a German.

"Chakey," said the voice, "vod your vill will say do you alretty, ha? You voz one tam fool k'vick yet."

The women in the ferryhouse began to look nervous. They gazed at the ceiling at the spot from where the voice seemed to come. The men were looking there too. The fat German stood by the radiator, his head over his breast, and seemed to be sound asleep.

"Fire! Fire! Fire!" cried a voice in the southwest corner.

Everybody jumped up. The women grabbed the arms of their escorts. The fat German still slept, and the voice sounded again, this time seemingly from the platform of an automatic weighing machine.

"Chakey, you vos a prute! Vod for you vand der ladies do sgare vod? I bunch your nose alretty."

This was somewhat reassuring. Everybody seemed to realize at the same instant that there was a ventriloquist with a big range of voice around somewhere, and everybody looked at the German. He seemed still to be asleep. But in a moment he moved uneasily. Then he lifted the ragged stump of a cigar he had in his hand, opened his eyes sleepily and put the stump into his mouth. Some fire was left in the cigar stump, but he didn't seem to notice it. He munched on the butt as if it were a sweet morsel. Everybody was watching him. He chewed perhaps a minute. Then he swallowed the stump, and the next instant pulled a new cigar out of his ear, bit off the end and lighted it.

"I no pay cigars," he said. "I maig dem."

The crowd was mightily interested and gathered close around. He didn't seem to like that, and he snorted:

"Vod you dink, you vols beoble? Gauze I maig a cigar you dink I vos a vol. I unmaig id." Saying which he put the fresh cigar, lighted as it was, back into his ear. He seemed to shove it out of sight and calmly took from his other ear the ragged butt that he had but a moment before chewed up and swallowed. He pulled on it. It was still lighted. One of his eyelids began twitching.

"My lug vos gone," he said. "I haff nails in my head ven vols load ad me."

With the tips of his fingers he lifted the twitching lid and pulled out a five inch iron spike, like those used to fasten down steel rails.

"I vos durn do one beice off iron alretty if you beebles dand ka'vit," he snorted, and he pulled another spike from the other eye. At the same instant the ragged butt disappeared, and in its place was another fresh cigar. He lit that. Next he pulled a couple of yards of muslin out of his mouth and wiped his eyes, after which he put back the spikes. He seemed to drive them right into the ball of either eye. The women were shocked and turned away. He pulled a whisky glass from his pocket, bit pieces out of it and chewed them with relish.

"Chentlemens," he said, "I vos 'un-gry. Cand you hellab me?"

"Thought it was a fake like that," said two or three of the men in the crowd.

"Well, it's a cold day when he gets any of my money," said two or three others.

"Money?" growled the fat German. "You dink I am lige you vols beebles vod ead mead nid. I vos nod. I ead baber, do vod cheader. Vill somepody hell a boor man do a beice off baber? Ziff me dod," he said, snatching an evening paper from the hands of one of the men. He tore two pages from it, and beginning on the corner of one he stuffed it into his mouth and ate it. At least it disappeared. Then he tackled the other page, and that went.

"Poor man," said one sympathetic woman, "he must be hungry. But how can he eat that stuff?"

The second page was gone, all but a little corner. The fat German's cheek bulged. A voice over his head said:

"Chakey, you've god doo much; you vos a hog."

He seized the corner of the paper that was sticking out and began pulling at it. It came in the shape of a perfect rolor, alternately red, white and blue in color. He held his head back and pulled. Still the colored cone kept coming. It ended at about the second yard. He handled it tenderly a moment, juggled it around, and finally turning it point down stuck it down his throat. Down and down it went, until it was out of sight. He closed his mouth. The cigar all this time had been missing. It appeared now, still lighted.

The coming in of the boat stopped the fun. The fat German was the first man aboard. He sank into a corner in the men's cabin and in two minutes was snoring. Who he was or what became of him nobody on the boat knew. He went out upon the rear deck when the boat was half way to Jersey City and disappeared.—New York Sun.
